

2019 ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM

The role of Les amis de la montagne in protecting natural environments

Mount Royal is a precious green space located in the heart of an ever-changing urban environment. Maintaining its biodiversity requires the implementation of solutions to address issues such as the spread of invasive non-native species, climate change and air pollution.

Since 2007, our Environmental Stewardship Program has allowed citizens to play an active role in the conservation of Mount Royal's biodiversity and to become aware of the importance of its natural surroundings.

What is environmental stewardship with Les amis de la montagne?

- A significant way to contribute to the protection of the Mount Royal environment
- Various environmental activities that are part of a scientific approach and carried out under the expert guidance of our conservation team
- Long-standing partnerships with the City of Montréal and large institutional owners on the mountain
- Over 30 years of experience in volunteer recruitment and training as well as community involvement
- In-depth knowledge of the Mount Royal ecosystem while promoting citizen engagement

A special offer for groups

From September to October, groups of 10 or more wishing to get involved in the protection of the environment are welcome to come spend a few hours helping us care for Mount Royal by planting trees or ridding the park of invasive exotic plants and shrubs. It's a great way to nurture nature and cultivate relationships in one of Montréal's most beautiful natural settings.
